CYPRUS NEW INVESTMENT PROGRAMME:
HOW TO GET THE MOST OUT OF IT AND THE POTENTIAL TAX CONSEQUENCES FOR RUSSIAN CITIZENS

On 30 November at 4 p.m. law firm Maxima Legal together with our Cypriot partners, law firm Antis Triantafyllides & Sons LLC will hold a roundtable event on the topic of 'Cyprus' new investment programme: 'How to get the most out of it and the potential tax consequences for Russian citizens'.

Recently migration has been playing an increasingly important role in the management of wealthy individuals' finances; migration can appeal as an opportunity not only to improve quality of life but can also be used to safeguard assets and earnings. Relocation abroad remains a viable, and if undertaken in a considered way, a profitable investment for wealthy individuals.

A number of jurisdictions, most notably Cyprus, have structured their immigration policies to provide investment programmes for wealthy individuals and their family members to acquire residency and citizenship with flexible residency and investment requirements.

At a roundtable event we will talk about the opportunities for Russian citizens to relocate to Cyprus and explore a new way by which the required investment in Cyprus can potentially be reduced significantly. At the event we will also consider the potential Russian tax consequences of residing abroad.
