I am a partner at Capital Legal Services, who founded the firm's Litigation, Tax, Bankruptcy and Intellectual Property practices, and has been supervising pro-bono projects. I have held the attorney status since 1994 and I am currently a member of the St. Petersburg Bar Association.

Capital Legal Services and SPIBA have been together a long time. We have been growing alongside each other, with joint projects being implemented. It is really great that St. Petersburg business has an effective platform for communicating and exchanging experience and ideas.

SPIBA brings together real leaders of the business market, who successfully implement the plans they talk about. I am delighted to see actual results of work of the committees, and I am gratified to know that I am a part of this.

For two years, I have been a member of the SPIBA Executive Committee, focusing on networking among SPIBA members. This year was difficult for everyone, and I am glad that my colleagues and I were able to somehow facilitate the lockdown period for our business community.

I would like to continue working within the project as a member of the SPIBA Executive Committee, and, of course, would be glad to put all my efforts into supporting the best traditions of the Association.
