

Olga Vorobyeva has been a part of Emerging Markets Group for more than 15 years and since 2009 she has been the head of the company legal practice. Olga's management has influenced the reputation raise of legal practice in addition to the main business direction of EMG in accounting.

Olga brings her experience in a wide range of legal matters: arbitration and litigation, taxation, commercial and labor law issues, foreign economic activity, currency regulation and currency control.

Olga specializes in tax consulting and tax planning; she is a tax attorney and an active member of the Chamber of Tax Advisers. However, due to her position she stays up to date with various company projects such as business opening and closing in Russia, M&A, due diligence, and resolving labor disputes. Olga also participates in audits and verifications of labor and migration legislation, advises on contract law, foreign economic activity, which gives her the opportunity to have a good understanding of current business problems in various industries.

Olga Vorobyeva is the current co-chair of the SPIBA Legal Committee. Olga takes a proactive position as part of the Committee's activities, namely, she participates in organizing and supporting the events held by the Committee, including being responsible for the development of a new format of business meetings called Legal4Business. It allows lawyers of member companies share their ideas and give useful advice and practical guidance on legal matters with business representatives in understandable terms for the people who are not engaged in legal field. Also, Olga Vorobyeva, as a co-chair of the SPIBA Legal Committee, together with the SPIBA Financial Committee, represents the interests of the Association members at the Advisory Council of the Federal Tax Service of Russia on taxation of foreign investors and commercial organizations with foreign investments.